Course Description:

Consult the Genius of the Place in all.
Alexander Pope

Give me a place to stand, and I will move the world.
Archimedes

Architecture is the thoughtful making of space.
Louis Kahn

Space is the breath of art.
Frank Lloyd Wright

Living, working, and going to college or participating in a program in the backyard of one of the nation’s major metropolitan areas is an exciting and often surprising adventure. Yet, even if you are from this region or have visited Philadelphia frequently, you might know very little about what urban living has to offer. So, we are going to investigate together your environment by using the city of Philadelphia, particularly what’s called ‘center city’, as your classroom. We will explore definitions, meanings, and processes of place and space (and their differences) in order to embrace the city as a site of inspiration, innovation, creation, and opportunity. The goal is to demonstrate how place and space are necessary parts when thinking about and doing one’s work.

Course Requirements:

Required Text
Selection of Readings, Site Visits, and Workplaces

Class discussions will often revolve around the readings; rarely will I lecture about them. I am interested in what you have to say about the readings and site visits, and I will look to you to bring up topics and issues generated for our discussions. I want to create an environment where all of us will be comfortable to talk about the readings and sites and share our thoughts and ideas.

Methods

You will be challenged through ethnographic methods, site visits, interactive lecture sessions, writing and reading assignments, exercises, small group work, conferences, and seminar discussions.
Learning Outcomes and/or Expected Student Competencies and Assessment Measures:

Other Policies:

Expectations
Professional behavior is expected of all students. This includes preparation for classes, on-time attendance at classes, attendance at all group sessions and appropriate participation in the form of attentiveness and contributions to the course. Respect for the academic process is the major guiding principle for professional behavior and extends to all communications, including email.

Attendance/Participation
Prompt attendance, full preparation, and active participation in class discussions are expected from every student in every class session.

Course Policies
For email communications, students must use their Arcadia University email account. Students are responsible for any information provided by e-mail or through Intranet postings.

Plagiarism
Representation of another’s work or ideas as one’s own in academic submissions is plagiarism, and is cause for disciplinary action. Cheating is actual or attempted use of resources not authorized by the instructor(s) for academic submissions. Students caught cheating in this course will receive a failing grade. Fabrication is the falsification or creation of data, research or resources to support academic submissions, and cause for disciplinary action.

Late or Missed Assignments
Will not be accepted for grading.

Students with Disabilities
Persons with documented disabilities requiring accommodations to meet the expectations of this course should disclose this information while enrolling into the program, and before leaving the United States so that appropriate arrangements can be made.

Title IX Statement
Arcadia University is committed to providing a learning, living, and working environment that is free from discrimination. The University has an Interim Policy Prohibiting Sexual Harassment and Sexual Misconduct detailing our commitment to preventing and addressing such behavior. I understand the impact that sexual harassment and sexual misconduct can have and am committed to doing my part to foster an environment that is safe and equitable.

Please know that all faculty on campus are mandatory reporters. This means that if you disclose an experience of sexual harassment or sexual misconduct to me outside of a classroom discussion, a writing assignment, or a University-approved research project, I must share what you reported to me with the Director of Arcadia’s Office of Equity and Civil Rights/Title IX Coordinator, Nora Nelle (nellen@arcadia.edu). This does not mean that you will have to pursue an investigation or go through a grievance process. Even if you do not choose these options, the Office of Equity and Civil Rights/Title IX can provide supportive measures and other resources to you.

If you or someone you know has experienced sexual harassment or sexual misconduct, please know that you are not alone. If you would like to speak to someone confidentially, confidential resources are provided on the Office of Equity and Civil Rights website.

Prerequisites: None.
