Studying away from home doesn’t always mean studying abroad. At Arcadia Abroad, we have established United States based programs to allow you get hands-on experience in Philadelphia, the home of Arcadia University, or to explore environmental justice along the Mississippi River.

While working with our expert staff, you will feel supported as you adapt to your study and working away from home. Feel supported by them from the moment you arrive as they help you create you adventure through learning and other cultural engagement.
Earn credits with Arcadia Abroad:

- Intern Philly.
- River Semester: 100 Days on the Mississippi.

Intern Philly – This program offers an exciting mix of for-credit coursework, cultural engagement and practical work experience designed to help you make the most of your experience, stay on-track for graduation, and build your professional network.

River Semester: 100 Days on the Mississippi – Spend 100 days traveling by canoe and catamaran down the length of the Mississippi river, developing a field research project, and focusing on the areas of environmental justice, sustainable agricultural, ecological restoration, and the food, music, and culture of the American heartland.
